Title: Academic Testing Program Requirements

Policy: Students will participate in a national standardized testing program during their undergraduate nursing program. Each student must complete a series of standardized examinations throughout the curriculum.

Rationale: In preparation for success on NCLEX-RN, the FSU College of Nursing utilizes a national testing program throughout the undergraduate program. Student participation in this academic testing program is a requirement of the College of Nursing. A number of specialty exams related to specific content and courses are administered throughout the program.

Procedure: The exams will be administered via computer during designated times. Students, who fail to achieve the benchmark score on any standardized exam, will be required to meet with the Assistant Dean of Undergraduate Programs to discuss strategies to improve their academic performance.
